The End

SISU's team has been immersed in all aspects of film-making for the past 6 decades. This unique perspective means that no requirement of yours – even the inevitable mid-project crises – will come as a surprise to us; we may not be able to predict every problem in the sequence it arrives, but not one of them will prove insurmountable with us at your side.

Yes, our equipment selection is comprehensive and of the highest quality, but we are a full service outfit, qualified and eager to advise and shepherd every element of your project, from pre-production to final edit, and everything in between.

“Volume discount” and “family pricing”. Neither is incorrect, but neither is entirely sufficient either. Work with us once, and we predict you'll want to do so many times hence. And, yes your loyalty will be matched, and the pricing will reflect that.
