

My name is Scott Glazer, and if you are seeking a talented, clever, and progressive team player with critical knowledge and work experience, I am your man. I graduated from Montclair State University with a BA in Broadcasting and am eager for an opportunity to lend my skills to your organization.

There are three things that my presence at your corporation will bring to the table –

1. Knowledge

- a. Good judgment and critical thinker on all things visual (film, television, music)
- b. Skilled in comedic and dramatic writing.
- c. Good sense on what works and what does not. Very able to put myself in a broad range of different audiences' shoes.
- d. A salesman who knows when to keep going and when to stop.
- e. Passion for creating and building on innovative ideas, especially in groups.
- f. Excellent problem solver.
- g. Strong desire for progression and taking the company into new directions while still maintaining tradition.

2. Experience

- a. Writing, Editing, Producing, and Directing: Band music, hypnosis tapes, music videos, narrative TV, commercials, PSAs, and webisodes.

3. Goals

- a. Strong desire to do things that have never been done.
- b. Desire to contribute my creative input to further a company or show's success.
- c. To maintain a balance of innovation and loyalty to the audience.

From the enclosed resume you will see where my experience has been geared towards. I have always been looking for an exciting and rewarding opportunity that fits my personal goals and desires in the market. After thorough research I have been drawn to your company more than any other. I would be glad to hold a personal interview at your convenience. You will see that my commitment, work ethic, and quality of performance will proudly represent your organization.

Thanks in advance for your consideration,
Scott Glazer
